Proper Citation: University of Mississippi Medical Center Pharmacology Clinical Research Core Facility (RRID:SCR_028576)

Description: Facility promotes and facilitates faculty and student research in biomedical bench science. Provides supports for clinical research, expertise and resources to clinical and translational scientists and trainees. Offers services of clinical research coordinators and BSL2 facilities for the processing, storage or molecular experimentation of human biological samples. In addition, equipment and technical assistance for performing ELISAs, cell proliferation assays, autoantibody assays, nitric oxide (NO) measurements, reactive oxygen species (ROS) determination, proteomics, mitochondrial function, flow cytometry, Western immunoblotting, and cell cytokine secretion profiling are available.

Synonyms: , UMMC Pharmacology Clinical Research Core, Pharmacology Clinical Research Core (PCRC)

Resource Type: access service resource, core facility, service resource

Keywords: ABRF, clinical and translational biomedical bench services, human biological sample, ELISAs, cell proliferation assays, autoantibody assays, nitric oxide (NO) measurements, reactive oxygen species (ROS) determination, proteomics, mitochondrial function, flow cytometry, Western immunoblotting, cell cytokine secretion profiling,
