Proper Citation: Biomedical Research Program UCA (RRID:SCR_004395)

Description: The Biomedical Research Program (PIB) of the School of Medical Sciences was created in 2007, after a Collaboration Protocol was established between UCA and the National Council of Scientific and Technical Research (CONICET). Research at PIB aims at unraveling the molecular, biochemical and genetic aspects of human diseases, therefore contributing to understanding complex pathologies. Research Groups include: * Molecular and Cell Biology Lab (LBCM) - Group leader: Tom??s A. Santa Coloma, Ph.D. * Nanotechnology Lab - Group leader: Tom??s A. Santa Coloma, Ph.D. * Molecular Neurobiology Lab - Group leader: Francisco J. Barrantes, Ph.D.

Abbreviations: PIB

Synonyms: Biomedical Research Institute UCA - CONICET, Biomedical Research Institute, UCA Biomedical Research Program, UCA PIB, Programa de Investigaciones Biom??dicas, Biomedical Research Institute UCA

Resource Type: undergraduate program resource, degree granting program, training resource, data or information resource, organization portal, portal, graduate program resource

Funding: CONICET

Resource Name: Biomedical Research Program UCA

Resource ID: SCR_004395

Alternate IDs: nlx_143715
