Proper Citation: Sanford Burnham Prebys Medical Discovery Institute NMR Facility (RRID:SCR_014861)

Description: Facility that acts as a centralized shared resource for NMR studies on proteins, peptides, small molecules, and carbohydrates in solution or in solid state. It provides instrumentation and expertise for NMR data collection. It also provides consultation with investigators on the feasibility of NMR for structural studies of protein candidates, as well as the optimal method to obtain solution structures and binding information by multi-dimensional NMR techniques. It can also train users in basic spectrometer operations, trouble-shoot for instrumental and operational problems, and set up NMR experiments for users as requested.
