Description: Core is outgrowth of Michigan-UNC Peer Support Core, funded through Michigan Center for Diabetes Translational Research, 2016-21. It continues the Peer Support Core's emphasis on the variety of peers and peer support approaches and the processes that undergird them, while expanding on these to include families and communities. Services include individual consultation to researchers and on research projects, national outreach, and facilitation such as through webinars and annual research workshops of national Special Interest Group of researchers interested in contributions of and interactions among community, peer, and family supports for reducing inequity in diabetes prevention and management.
