Description: Core provides tools for preparation of human and murine samples suitable for molecular genetic and cytogenetic analysis of entire genome. These tools include establishment of EBV transformed cell lines; isolation of DNA and mRNA from variety of tissue culture samples as well as primary biopsies; preparation of metaphase chromosomes suitable for fluorescence in situ hybridization (FISH) and Spectral Karyotyping (SKY) or whole chromosome paints for human and mouse genome. Core personnel is trained to hybridize commercial probes and to designed locus specific probes for regions of interest to investigators. All probes are custom designed and in house generated.
