Description: THIS RESOURCE IS NO LONGER IN SERVICE, documented August 23, 2016. The GO Partition Database was designed to feature ontology partitions with GO terms of similar specificity. The GO partitions comprise varying numbers of nodes and present relevant information theoretic statistics, so researchers can choose to analyze datasets at arbitrary levels of specificity. The GO Partition Database, featuring GO partition sets for functional analysis of genes from human and ten other commonly-studied organisms with a total of 131,972 genes.
