Proper Citation: ICM Browser (RRID:SCR_014878)

Description: Molecular graphics environment which provides biologists and chemists with representations of proteins, DNA, RNA, and multiple sequence alignments. Users can build, annotate, and edit interactive views and slides of molecules. Users can also superimpose protein structures, search PDB, measure distances and angles, and view and make high resolution images of alignments.

Synonyms: ICM-Browser

Resource Type: software resource

Keywords: drug design, molecular graphics design, protein, protein structure, multiple sequence alignments

Availability: Free, Available for download

Resource Name: ICM Browser
