Description: Proud to be a premier California school for pharmacy and health sciences, The Thomas J. Long School was founded in 1955 and offers professional and graduate degrees in pharmacy, physical therapy and speech-language pathology. Located on the campus of the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, our school's pharmacy and health science programs are accredited by the respective national accreditation entities. We provide an outstanding academic environment that combines didactic and experiential learning as a focal point for our students. We hold academic affiliations with major medical centers, teaching hospitals, and related practice settings in support of our educational programs. We prepare our students for lifelong success in health careers by providing an excellent student-centered learning environment. Our students develop leadership skills and a strong commitment to their professions and to society. We support outstanding professional and graduate teaching, research and other scholarly activities, and services as a means of achieving our mission.
