Proper Citation: University of California at Davis Mutant Mouse Resource and Research Center (RRID:SCR_016448)

Description: Center that imports, archives, maintains, and distributes mutant mouse alleles as live mice, frozen germplasm, stem cells, and molecular vectors for use in biomedical research. The MMRRC Davis receives transgenics, knockouts, and other kinds of mutant mouse lines at no cost to the donor, and after re-derivation and cryopreservation, distributes breeding stock, germplasm, cells, or tissues of genetically-defined and pathogen-free mice for a small fee to requesting investigators.
