Description: THIS RESOURCE IS NO LONGER IN SERVICE, documented on July 17, 2013. Part of the Surgery Program, The Moncton Hospital's Tissue Bank is a support service that recovers, processes, stores and distributes bone for transplantation. Approximately 175 surgical bone donors and 25 cadaver donors are received by The Moncton Hospital Tissue Bank each year. The Tissue Bank consolidates the recovery, processing, testing, storage and distribution of tissues for transplantation to: * Improve the health of individuals; * Provide the required tissue to surgeons for their patients; * Provide the highest quality tissue for transplantation; * Ensure the safety, efficacy and economy in all aspects of tissue banking practice; * Ensure that the quantity and range of tissue meets the clinical demand; * Develop and use outcome measures to ensure quality and safety of tissue provided; * Contribute to the development and implementation of national standards; and * Provide a clinical support service to clinicians in order for them to help the patients achieve their optimum level of functioning. While South-East Regional Health Authority has led the province of New Brunswick in organ donation for decades, only in 2002 did the health authority officially embark on working towards achieving accreditation. In October, 2006, the American Association of Tissue Banks awarded the prestigious accreditation to the Dr. Donald MacLellan Tissue Bank, making this the sixth tissue bank in Canada to hold this achievement. This service will enable SERHA to provide better care to New Brunswickers in the event of a trauma or the need for reconstructive surgery.
