Description: University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center Program in Sleep Medicine Sleep Disorders Center was established in 1983 and was the first nationally accredited sleep disorders center in the State of New Mexico receiving accreditation in March of 1992 from the American Academy of Sleep Medicine. They provide comprehensive services to individuals having symptoms occurring during sleep or while awake due to unrefreshing sleep. The Program combines a state-of-the-art outpatient sleep laboratory, inpatient sleep laboratory, sleep medicine clinic, and trained medical and technical staff dedicated to the diagnosis and treatment of sleep/wake disorders in adults and children. The University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center Program in Sleep Medicine has the distinction of having a first and many onlys attached to it. The criteria for accreditation is very stringent and to date, there is only one other accredited center in the entire state. The Center is also accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Health Care Organizations.
