Description: GeneInfoViz is a web based tool for batch retrieval of gene function information, visualization of GO structure and construction of gene relation networks. It takes a input list of genes in the form of LocusLink ID, UniGeneID, gene symbol, or accession number and returns their functional genomic information. Based on the GO annotations of the given genes, GeneInfoViz allows users to visualize these genes in the DAG structure of GO, and construct a gene relation network at a selected level of the DAG. Platform: Online tool

Abbreviations: GeneInfoViz

Synonyms: GeneInfoViz: Constructing and Visualizing Gene Relation Networks

Resource Type: data analysis service, data or information resource, database, service resource, production service resource, analysis service resource
