Description: WikiHealth is a collaborative online health and wellness community where your participation makes a difference! WikiHealth's goal is to offer the most comprehensive, current and insightful information to help anyone and everyone achieve optimal health. Our belief is that your knowledge matters--- and you can help others by sharing what you know. WikiHealth is a collaborative writing project aiming to build an extensive and valueable repository on a variety of health and wellness topics. Our mission is to bring free, accesible and thorough information on health and wellness into the homes of every individual worldwide. The goal is for new articles on any health and wellness topic to be added regularly and for existing articles to be improved by volunteer contributors. In time, we envision WikiHealth to be the best health resource to come to for unbiased information as well as prescriptive advice on any health or wellness topic. Please join us by writing a new article or editing an existing one.
