Description: The University of Wyoming School of Pharmacy was founded in 1946. The school aims to help improve the quality of health care in Wyoming by graduating students who can provide primary pharmaceutical care in a rural and frontier environment, as well as in cities. Students receive a strong background in the pharmaceutical sciences on which to build clinical expertise. Complementing this, early in the curriculum students are exposed to pharmacy practice environments and seminars focusing on contemporary issues. Throughout the curriculum, faculty members integrate the teaching and application of critical-thinking skills, decision-making skills, and professional communication techniques as applied to pharmacy practice. This culminates in the final year with a series of rotations in diverse settings throughout Wyoming, Colorado, and beyond.
