Description: Web interfaced application to store, share, explore and manipulate metagenomic data. Interactive viral and microbial metagenomic data manager. Stores large volumes of user defined sample, sequence and assignment information while providing filtering web interface. Offers means to share datasets with collaborators, BLAST external sequences against them, and confirm assignments by running phylogenetic placement. Available as set of Docker containers that make it simple to deploy on various infrastructures.

Resource Type: data or information resource, software resource, web application
