Proper Citation: ISPS Data Archive (RRID:SCR_003127)

Description: Data archive to assist in the sharing of research grade information pertaining to the social and economic sciences. The majority of digital content currently consists of social science research data from experiments, program files with the code for analyzing the data, requisite documentation to use and understand the data, and associated files. Access to the ISPS Data Archive is provided at no cost and is granted for scholarship and research purposes only. When possible, Data is linked to Projects and Publications, via the ISPS KnowledgeBase. ISPS operates in accordance with the prevailing standards and practices of the digital preservation community including the Open Archival Information System (OAIS) Reference Model (ISO 14721:2003) and the Data Documentation Initiative (DDI) standard. Accordingly, ISPS supports digital life-cycle management, interoperability, and preferred methods of preservation. The ISPS Data Archive is intended for use by social science researchers, policy-makers, and practitioners who are conducting or analyzing field (and other) experiments in various social science disciplines. Currently, Replication Files originate with ISPS-affiliated scholars.
