Description: The Mylan School of Pharmacy is one of the most respected schools of pharmacy in the country. For more than 80 years, the School has been at the forefront of growth and change in professional education and practice. We have maintained and strengthened our leadership position, by introducing new and innovative degree programs in the pharmaceutical sciences, pharmacy administration, and the nation's first and only weekend Pharm.D. program and Health Care Supply Chain Management program to meet the ever-changing healthcare needs of the world. Our Academic Research Centers keep the School on the cutting edge-integrating research, teaching and practice to ensure that Duquesne University retains its traditional influence on the exciting future of pharmacy, and that our graduates are fully prepared for leadership as they face the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead. The School offers Doctor of Pharmacy, Master of Sciences, Doctor of Philosophy degree programs as well as Health Care Supply Chain Management and Fellowship and Residency Programs.
