Proper Citation: Thermodynamic Database for Nucleic Acids (RRID:SCR_007770)

Description: NTDB is a database is a collection of thermodynamic and structural data, experimental methods, conditions and relevant literature citations on nucleic acids. This database is updated continuously. The thermodynamic data of interest can be searched by structural features, thermodynamic parameters, experimental methods and the use of citation. Tools relating to the thermodynamic properties of nucleic acids are also made available in this database and can be applied to predict thermal denaturation profiles, free energy, etc. Some related links are also available. Users are encouraged to deposit new thermodynamic data on nucleic acids to this database.
