Description: A Swedish national center of research for molecular biosciences with a focus on health and environmental research. Researchers from Sweden can use both the technology and the expertise provided by SciLifeLab. Swedish researchers typically pay only for reagents and other consumables. Users from commercial companies pay the actual costs of the analyses performed. SciLifeLab also provides educational courses, seminars, and programs for PhD students, postdocs, investigators and other employees within all Swedish universities.

Synonyms: Science for Life Laboratory

Resource Type: access service resource, analysis service resource, graduate program resource, production service resource, service resource

Keywords: molecular biosciences, health and environmental research, analysis service resource, graduate program resource, access service resource, sweden

Availability: Available to the research community, May be specifically for Sweden-based researchers

Resource Name: SciLifeLab

Resource ID: SCR_014078

Record Creation Time: 20220129T080318+0000

Record Last Update: 20260912T195812+0000
