Description: Core provides services, from DNA and RNA extraction from diverse sample types such as tissue, stool, and bacterial isolates to next-generation sequencing, including whole-genome sequencing, total RNA-seq, metatranscriptomics, and dual RNA-seq, along with expert bioinformatics support. Core expertise spans 16S rRNA amplicon sequencing, shotgun metagenomics, metatranscriptomics, meta-omics analysis of dual RNA-seq, and single-cell RNA-seq data. Core also assists with experimental design and power calculations to ensure statistically robust results, offering consultation at every stage, from experimental design to data interpretation and troubleshooting.

Abbreviations: MSAAR

Synonyms: Microbial Sequencing and Analytics Resource (MSAAR)

Resource Type: access service resource, core facility, service resource

Keywords: ABRF, DNA and RNA extraction, next-generation sequencing, whole-genome sequencing, total RNA-seq, metatranscriptomics, dual RNA-seq, bioinformatics support,

Resource Name: Cleveland Clinic Lerner Research Institute Microbial Sequencing and Analytics Core Facility
